

CampbellON

Hardware-grade software for data you can't afford to doubt.

A strong foundation to build ON

CampbellON™ is Campbell Scientific's software for building and running observation networks, from a single station to thousands.

Engineered to help observation networks succeed, CampbellON simplifies environmental data management without compromising configurability. It brings programming, monitoring, and visualization into a single, intuitive platform for environmental monitoring applications ranging from hydrology and meteorology to surface transportation and beyond.

"The easiest software to use is often the least flexible, and the most flexible software is often the hardest to use. One of our biggest goals with CampbellION was to challenge that trade-off by making sophistication simple."

Director of Software Operations, Campbell Scientific

Flip the switch on your data.

Manage your stations from anywhere.

View and manage your data—and your weather stations—from anywhere in the world.

Deploy your way.

Choose to run CampbellION in the cloud, on premises, in a private cloud, or across multiple clouds. Your data, your way.

Stay ahead of station maintenance.

Spot and resolve problems faster to protect data continuity and reduce downtime with station health monitoring tools.

Give the right people the right access.

Set role-based access so each person can see and manage only what they need to.

Scale your network without starting over.

From a single station to thousands, the same platform grows with your network.

Adapt as your needs evolve.

Pair a Campbell Scientific data logger or Aspen™10 device with Campbell Scientific or third-party sensors and reshape your network as requirements shift in the future. Measure what you want, the way you want to.

See what matters most.

Create alerts and tailor-made dashboards to see what is most important to you.

Program with confidence.

Test and compile your code before it even reaches your data logger.

Turn it on.
